

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A stolen vehicle tracking apparatus 1 is disclosed including a communication enable area discriminating and processing section 7 discriminating whether communication is available between an own vehicle 102 and a service center 103, and a control section 12 which controls so as to interrupt given information from being transmitted when discriminated by the communication enable area discriminating and processing section 7 that no availability of communication is established.